

Tatsumaki Taiko

Celebrating 50 years of Berkeley-Sakai Sister City Friendship

Please join us for an evening of taiko performance and sake tasting!

Tatsumaki Taiko is a traditional Japanese percussion group based in the East Bay Area. Tatsumaki, from the Japanese word for "whirlwind," literally means "spinning dragon" - the symbol of the powerful spirit and energy of Tatsumaki Taiko.

From traditional to contemporary, Tatsumaki Taiko is dedicated to celebrating the rhythms of diversity, performing its own arrangements of traditional Japanese songs as well as many original compositions with influences from African, Latin, jazz, and rock music.

Tatsumaki Taiko strives to conjure the feeling of "matsuri," or "festival" in Japanese, and to bring people together through the sounds of drums.
